

Sample Project Screenshots

MY FIRST YEAR AT O.H.S.

CONTENTS

- September 8th
- September 15th
- December 20th
- June 6th

I began my teaching career in the district at South Philadelphia High School on July 1, 2004. Where I taught English 1 and 2. Before I had been forced transferred in April 2015, I thought that I would finish my career there. But it didn't work out that way. I had been forced into site selection as so many of my colleagues (a few of them being good friends) had been years before. I didn't know what to expect or how things would turn out and I became increasingly apprehensive. Then in May, things changed and I was offered a job at Overbrook High School. I jumped at the opportunity and accepted. Not knowing even remotely what I got myself into, it would be a turning point in my teaching career but I knew not how.

MY FIRST YEAR AT O.H.S.

IT BEGINS...

POSTED ON SEPTEMBER 8TH, 2015

I got my roster and found that I was teaching 5 sections of English 3. I had great trepidation as I never taught English 3 before. How in the deuce could I teach 4 sections of a class I had never taught in a school I had never taught teaching children I had never taught? Things seemed horribly out of place and I was at a loss of what to do. The practices I developed after 11 years at South Philadelphia High School seemed to instantly fly out of the window. The simplest things I took for granted at Southern like taking attendance and managing the classroom environment seemed to be miracles at Overbrook, at least as far as I was concerned.

TOUGH EXPECTATIONS!

October 26-November 2, 2017: Blog Project

Objective: the students will be able to type 4 5-sentence paragraphs, change the font families, styles and sizes on a web page in order to create a blog consisting of approx. 100 lines of code (due Nov. 18 for 50 project points).

Direct Instruction: Sample Blog Project Requirements

1. Must contain a banner
2. Must contain at least 4 blog posts
  - a. entry title
  - b. entry subtitle (post date)
  - c. entry (5 sentence min.)
3. Must have a table of contents which links the posts
4. Must have 3 CSS rules
5. Must use at least 4 different CSS properties which start with font-
6. Must not have any errors